REDEEMER LUTHERAN LADIES AID HOLD REGULAR MEETING

Redeemer Lutheran Ladies Aid held its regular meeting Oct. 13, in the church basement, with 14 members and two visitors present.

The topic on Christian Stewardship "How much ought I give to my Church?" was led by Rev. Fox. He pointed out that we should give in proportion to our material blessings; the first-fruits rather than meager leftovers.

Several important items of business were dealt with: The annual congregational supper is to be held on Friday, Nov. 4. A cash donation of $25.00 was made to Concordia College, Edmonton. An additional two dozen metal folding chairs were purchased by the society. The tentative date for our auction sale is the latter part of November.

Meeting adjourned with the Lord's Prayer. A delicious lunch was served by the hostesses, Mrs. L. Hildebrandt and Mrs. A. Goebers.

PRATT - ARCHER

St. Paul's United Church in Fairview was the scene of a pretty afternoon ceremony on Sept. 22 when Marguerite Joyce Archer eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Crosby Archer of Didsbury, became the bride of John Douglas Pratt of Highland Park. Reverend W. Dornier officiated and Mrs. Dornier acted as organist for the occasion.

Oliven in marriage by her brother Keith, the bride appeared in a cocktail length frock of frosted blue organza over tulle. As accessories she wore a dainty summer hat of pink, gloves to match, and she carried a bouquet of pink roses. Her only jewelry was a three strand pearl necklace a loan from the groom.

Erna Hiebert, of Fairview, as the bride's only attendant chose an afternoon dress fashioned in three-quarter length and made of apricot shade tulle. She wore accessories of black and carried a bouquet of white-centred blue carnations.

Supporting the groom was Don Cox of Gage and ushers for the occasion were the groom's brother, Teddy Pratt of Highland Park and brother-in-law Henry Moskalyk of Fairview.

Following the ceremony a reception for forty-two friends and relatives of the young couple was held in the Brooks Cafe banquet room with the bride's mother wearing for the occasion a blue suit with pink accessories and red corsage. Mrs. Pratt, mother of the groom, chose a grey dress graced by navy accessories and a corsage of red roses.

On the bride's table was placed a three-tier wedding cake and Don Cox proposed the toast to the bride.

Out-of-town-guests present for the wedding were the bride's mother, Mrs. C. Archer and her brother, Keith Archer.

Following a weekend honeymoon trip to points south of the river the couple will return to Highland Park. Telegrams of congratulations were received from Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Heist of Chilliwack, B.C. and Mrs. Russell Sherick of Didsbury and Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Snyder of Carstairs, Alberta.

LEAVES US

It is with much regret we withdraw from the fall-end page (the local page) of the Pioneer, the space that has been used by Rantons for high on twenty-eight years.

We miss the fine association that we have had with Rantons; we imagine editors who have gone before us, feel the same way about it, but we do know and feel that old-timers (even some of the newcomers) will miss the hitchin' post.

Time marches on!

The hockey players were girls, both large and small and by the looks of some of them we should have a good high school hockey team this winter.

It wasn't the dressing up in queer costumes that seemed to trouble the initiates; it was that continual bowing and carrying their elders' books. This process had to be carried on for two days and all of the freshmen who did not abide by the rules, had their name listed in a little black book which came to light later.

About seven o'clock, Friday evening the initiates assembled at the school for a little more punishment. They started at one end of the hall and after a long series of terrifying experiences, horrible sounds, sights and smells, they emerged barefooted, but full-fledged members of D.H.S.

The freshmen were then allowed to change into their ordinary clothes, after which everyone re-assembled in the gym. Then the little black book, mentioned above, was brought out.

The first culprits on the list were Larry Gillies and Margaret Leason. They had refused to bow and for their penalty they were requested to sing a duet. The less said about that, the better. Next on the list were: Bob Nuss, Grant Nolley, Mike Wile and Ruth Burgess. After their misbehaviors were read; they were sentenced to eat a pie each, without the use of knife, fork or spoon. This proved to be very interesting to watch and as you can imagine, when the winner, Ruth Burgess was declared, the pies had left the plates and were well distributed on the faces of the contestants. Several others were sentenced to duties and each carried their assignment very cheerfully.

Lunch was then served to about 125 students. Games and dancing completed the evening which goes into the records as just about the best initiation party ever in Didsbury High.

Lutheran Congregation Officers Meet

The officers of the various Lutheran Congregations of the Church-Missouri Synod of the Calgary Circuit met at the local church on Sunday afternoon, Oct. 16, to discuss and plan the work of the Church for 1934. Well over 125 members were in attendance, representing the seven parishes in this circuit, namely: Jehovah, Calgary; Mt. Calvary, Calgary; Grace, Calgary; Redeemer, Montgomery; Grace, Drumheller; St. John, Trochu and Redeemer, Didsbury.

After a short devotional by Rev. F. Stark, Trochu, the Circuit Visitor, Rev. E. B. Fox, opened the meeting. Rev. A. F. Miller led the group in a discussion on "Christian Stewardship - It's proper motivation." Rev. V. Hennig in answer to the question "After Baptism, What?" showed the assembly the need for Christian training and education of the youth of the Church. Mr. A. Beamer, the district membership secretary of the Lutheran Laymen League International briefly outlined the work of this organization, emphasizing especially its work in behalf of the Lutheran Church.

After a short recess, Rev. W. C. Eifert, Edmonton, Executive Secretary of the district, presented the "Venture of Faith" program of the Church. He dealt especially with the financial part of the program.

Under the blessed direction of God, many new areas are being opened to our church; we are moving to higher plateaus of action and to meet these challenges Synod has set a budget for 1934 of $12,800,000. The budget for world wide missions for the Alberta - British Columbia District stands at $100,000. Ways and means of raising this amount were discussed.

Following a brief devotional, closed, led by Rev. N. Eifert, Calgary, the assembled group partook of supper prepared by the Ladies of Redeemer.

During the meal, Rev. Fox called on the presidents of the various congregations to say a few words.

Need Grain Advances . . .

The farmers' need for cash to meet operating and living expenses and other financial commitments is becoming increasingly apparent in Alberta. Following the inter-provincial meeting in Saskatoon, two weeks ago gatherings of farmers have been held at a number of points in Alberta and others are planned. On Wednesday, Oct. 9, over 150 farmers and businessmen at Husam passed a resolution urging the federal government to authorize a 10 cent interim payment on last year's grain deliveries and to make cash advances available on prospective deliveries during the current season.

Apart from districts hit by hail or heavy frosts, the need for loans or advances is most acute in straight grain farming areas. Unless a farmer has flax, durum or malting barley his deliveries this autumn have been restricted to 100 units and at some points congested elevator facilities have made even these small deliveries impossible. If he markets wheat this means a delivery of only 300 bushels, and if it is a good grade it brings him around $300. Oats or barley would provide about the same return.

It would appear that farmers, with grain in their bins and a good credit rating can secure bank loans. Many farmers, however, and particularly the younger men who are trying to establish themselves and have payments on land and machinery to meet, are finding it next to impossible to get money even though they are harvesting a good crop. It is evident that some form of temporary assistance is needed to help grain producers who find themselves in this position.

OVERSIZE

A minister had started for New York to have a large sign painted for the church lawn. Reaching the city he realized he had forgotten the copy and the dimensions of the sign. He wired his wife: "Send Biblical quotation and measurements."

The girl in the Western Union office required smelling salts when she got the message over the wire: "Do us a child is born. Six feet long, two feet wide."

Elizabeth Pretty John, 70, stands beside her home in the "ghost village" of South Hallsands, South Devon, England. The stout-hearted woman is the village's only inhabitant following the death of her brother.

WHATTA BOOKKEEPER

The personnel manager was interviewing a young lady for a book-keeping position. "You understand, of course, young lady," the manager affirmed, "that we are looking for a responsible person to fill this position."

"Oh, I'm responsible," the young woman replied eagerly. "On my last job, every time there was something they called a discrepancy, they always said I was responsible."

POINT LOST

A sergeant, drilling a batch of recruits, saw that one of them was out of step. Going to the man as he marched, he said sarcastically, "Do you know, Bud, that they are all out of step except you?"

"Well," was the retort, "you're in charge, you tell 'em!"

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

Spiritual demands on man for growth and progress will be brought out in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Probation After Death" at Christian Science services Sunday. Christ Jesus' emphasis on regeneration will be set forth in readings from the Bible including the following from John (3:3): "Jesus answered and said unto him, Verily, verily I say unto thee, Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God."

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy the following passage will be among those read (29: 12-13): "Universal salvation rests on progression and probation, and is unattainable without them." The Golden Text is from John (5:21): "As the Father raiseth up the dead,

Stern Measures Of Punishment

It is no pleasure to report news, where young men and young women get in wrong with the law and have to be severely punished.

The courts have leaned over backwards for the past couple of years rather than impose harsh penalties upon youngsters who have transgressed. The leniency of the courts has been misinterpreted by many of the young punks and their license has become intolerable.

Thus it is that in both Calgary and Edmonton last week severe jail sentences had to be imposed upon boys in the 17 to 19 year class, so that the public could be safeguarded from further brutal treatment.

In every instance their background uncovered a progressive lawlessness that might have been curbed had sterner measures been applied by the police and the courts at earlier stages in the life of crime followed by the offenders.

When jail sentences of two years and five years are handed out to offenders so young in years one is forced to wonder what is lacking in our family life of the present day. We are not disposed to charge such misbehavior to society at large. The home is responsible for the children until they reach the age of individual decision.

For Safer Cars . . .

From a special committee of California doctors who have seen and treated a lot of traffic injuries come some suggestions that are decidedly worth serious consideration of the car designers.

To protect the pedestrian and children on bicycles these doctors advocate rubber bumpers, smooth rounded front ends and elimination of ornaments, protruding handles and other points that may spear or catch. To protect the driver and his passengers they would tie the down things firmly inside.

Virtually all the changes recommended by this committee have nothing to do with how well the car operates. Wisely, says The Financial Post, the doctors have concentrated on their own field, the saving of life. Recently in the new car models some of these safety suggestions have been carried out and for its own sake it is to be hoped that the public or at least the saner part of it, will approve.

Hockey In Olds - Which League?

OLDS WALK OUT AT LEAGUE MEETING

Telephones and radios have been buzzing since Sunday following the announcement that Olds delegates walked out on a meeting of the Central Alberta Hockey League. The following report of actual events leads up to the walk-out was prepared by Dr. George Burland, President of the Olds Hockey Club, and Dr. H. T. Anderson, a director.

League affairs, as far as Olds is concerned, have been critical for nearly three years and Sunday's walk-out was not a surprise move. The meeting of the Central Alberta Hockey League at Lacombe on Sunday, Oct. 9th found League Representative Mel Cippicer, the President George Burland, Manager Sam Miller and Directors Dick Sandilands and Herb Anderson in attendance from Olds.

The meeting was opened by Secretary-Manager J. Rowett. The minutes of the previous annual meeting were reviewed. Governor Brown then took the chair while Secretary J. Rowett retired to take the minutes of the meeting. George Wilkins, of Didsbury, spoke on behalf of Didsbury club and asked for one year's leave of absence.

All teams, Ponoka, Red Deer, Olds and Lacombe voted in favor of granting this leave.

The Olds motion, which had been presented in writing asking that the league revert to a system of government whereby the body consists of a president, secretary, 3 governors and a league representative from each club, was presented for recording. After some discussion the motion was rejected through lack of second.

A motion was then made by Lacombe that League constitution take precedence over the A.H.A., seconded by Olds. However, before a vote could be taken Red Deer rose to state that this was new business and before it could be introduced the new executive should be appointed.

The meeting was then reshuffled. Mr. Rowett again occupying the chair while Governor Brown retired to the side.

Nominations were called for and Olds nominated Wm. Cowan, of Didsbury, for Governor. Ponoka nominated past Governor Brown and Red Deer moved nominations cease, seconded by Lacombe.

In a short discussion which followed Olds stated quite clearly that they were dissatisfied with the way the league had functioned the past three years, and indicated they would withdraw from the league unless a new governor were elected. In summing up, Olds felt the league governor should not be affiliated with the A.H.A. Mr. Brown replied in his own defence that he had been elected to the A.H.A. because certain northern clubs felt it would be beneficial to have an affiliation.

Before the ballots were cast Olds raised the question as to whether Didsbury were entitled to a vote and Secretary-Manager Rowett stated they were not. Subsequently the ballots were cast and Mr. Wilkins of Didsbury counted the ballots — 2 for Cowan; 3 for Brown.

Olds asked where the 5th ballot

Notes From D.A.

By Howard J. Fulcher

This article will deal with control and prevention of Bangs' disease, very cattleman should aim at eventually having a Bangs-free herd. It is a case of good herd management along the following lines.

Get all information you can on the disease, practice good herd management at all times. Have all heifer calves vaccinated, never miss any. Maintain a healthy herd if outside placements are made by only vaccinated calves or if adult cattle are added be sure they are free of the disease. Have a veterinarian test them before purchase and keep these new additions separate from the herd until it is proven positively they are clean cattle.

The veterinarian is trained in Bangs' disease diagnosis, prevention and control, consult him when purchasing calves are born. All abortions are not due to Bangs' disease, but it is wise to check and be certain of the cause.

If all heifer calves are vaccinated they can replace an infected herd in time, but to be certain of the herd status as to infection a blood test should be made of all cows those in and out of the herd. The disease is transmitted in raw milk to humans as undulant fever it is imperative to know if positive Bangs cows are in the herd.

The M.D. policies restricting this area, calfhood vaccination, blood testing of cows at sales and distribution of information is aimed at making this a Bangs' free area in time. Success will depend on full co-operation by all cattlemen.

BRILLIANT G. I.'S

Two cavalry rookies were each given a horse, and they wondered how to tell them apart. Joe cut the mane off his horse, but in a short time it grew out again. Then Bill trimmed the tail of his horse, it grew back.

Finally Joe got an idea. "Why don't we measure them?" he asked. "Maybe one horse is larger than the other."

So they measured them and sure enough, the black horse was three inches taller than the white one.

Olds Gazette

came from and Mr. Rowett stated he had cast the deciding ballot because, according to his solicitors, he had such a duty to perform in case of a tie.

Olds, having already made clear their position that they would withdraw from the league if Mr. Brown was returned to office, had no alternative but to leave the meeting.

Olds Gazette

(Ed. Note: At time of writing we have no further information on the above controversy. We do know Didsbury is out for the season and rumor has it Olds will attempt to join the Big Six League. After all, they should do something with the national seed plant they're so proud of.)

"BURNED BLACK"
The dairy buildings had burned to the ground. A young mother with her small son drove to see the molting heap of charred wood and hot ashes. As she looked on she made this remark, "burned black." She then went down town for some groceries and turned her car up main street. There were two men in conversation on the walk at the corner. She had not noticed that they were colored gentlemen until her young son exclaimed "burned black."

"That fellow burns me up," "I am all burning inside and," such like phrases reveal a disgust within that is most destructive although it does not burn black. What the boy saw was natural, it was the Creator's work. The inward condition these phrases express is not natural. They are the expression of evil in some form. No healthy, normal human being is ever burning up in this manner, neither because of someone else nor because of inner personal conflicts. Such terms always make known as unnatural, unhealthy and unhappy state of mind, toward some phase of life.

The cause may be big or little but it should be faced, and the attitude corrected.

Luther Burbank and Mark Twain were one time talking about noticeable attitudes in people when Mark Twain told the following story.

"One day a neighbor of mine came to my place with his head all tied up in a rag. He had a toothache. He was looking for sympathy. I laughed. His feelings were hurt. He said to me, 'Laugh if you must, but I have both a toothache and a headache, can you imagine anything worse than that?'"

"I replied, 'rheumatism and St. Vitus' Dance'."

Then Luther Burbank added: "From the day you are born till the day you ride in a hearse, it is eternal."

HE WASN'T DIRTY

The Irishman was relating his adventures in the jungle.

"Ammunition, food and whiskey had run out," he said, "and we were all parched with thirst."

"But wasn't there any water?"

"Sure, but it was no time to be thinking of cleanliness."

There is nothing that happens that couldn't be worse."

There were two young men walking the road homeward with sad hearts. They were to have been leaders in freeing their nation from Roman bondage. Their leader had been killed, brutally murdered on a cross. What would the hometown folk think about these young idealists now. Another joined them along the way. He knew the whole story which was not a story of defeat but of victory. When these two related this experience to their friends they said "did not our hearts burn within us, as he talked to us by the way." Someone has called this burning a home fire feeling, not a feeling of destruction but a feeling of healing; not a defeat but a victory. Many a tear has been shed over mistakes that were never losses but gains.

During world war 1, two lads stood side by side in the cold and dark in a front-line trench. One was enthusiastic and happy about his home university. He told his pal all about it in terms that revealed his love and loyalty. Several years later the president of that university received a letter saying, "I have two boys. One night in the trenches I heard a graduate of your institution speak so lovingly and with such a sense of loyalty about his Alma Mater, that I am now writing to ask if my boys may attend that institution of which you are president."

Love and loyalty build fine homes, schools, churches and nations, yet love and loyalty are but the heart burnings by the way, which turn defeat, failure, and death into victory. Success and life. Love and loyalty break through time's burnt black situations with a light that is eternal.

COYOTE POISON 1080: From time to time I have been asked to explain how the poison 1080 is used and what to expect from its use.

It is one of the most potent poisons known and there is no antidote.
1080 is so deadly that it is estimated that one pound of it could kill 400,000 coyotes if given at the minimum rate of 1/10 of a milligram per head. In actual use the poison is injected into the animal to be used for bait while the blood is still circulating. After a sufficient time lapse of perhaps 30 minutes the animal is cut up and bait, consisting of 75 to 100 pound chunks of meat spread at strategic locations. 1080 can remain potent over winter in the frozen chunks of bait. It only requires a bite or two of this bait to kill a coyote or, for that matter, anything that will eat the bait. Obviously, the nature and potency of this poison limits its use to sparsely settled areas where there is a real predator problem. Bait that are not eaten must be removed and buried in the spring of the year.
The latest bulletin I have from the Department of Agriculture states that manufacturers have stopped making this highly poisonous material, 1080.

Stampede Talk

By Ray Guay

CALGARY — Regina people who are staying away from their hockey rink in droves just don't realize what they're missing.

Off their Saturday performance here (Regina 4 - Calgary 1), the Regals will be a force to be reckoned with all season long.

Only the first of their four goals was a well executed effort, but their other three proved that they are professional opportunists, they take advantage of all the breaks that come their way and make them count.

That man Lucien Dechene is still one of the best in the minor leagues, especially when he has a couple of goals to work with.

If Regina likes good clean hockey,
they have the team of their choice.
Off their Saturday showing, the Regals realize that the puck is still the most important object on the ice.
They seldom bother with the shin,
at least not as a primary objective.

Stampede took to the air for their first road trip of the season, to Saskatoon, Winnipeg and Regina.
It was the only way to set to each place on successive days with time to spare. The train from Saskatoon to Winnipeg for the big opening of the new rink Tuesday would have landed the Stampede in the Manitoba capital at 7:00 p.m., leaving them an hour to get to the rink dress and start the game.

The final season's lineup will be decided by coach Frank Currie after the three-game tour.

The two goal-keepers, Ray Frederick and Doug Stevenson, will be kept on hand but, from there on, Currie will have his worries.

Ray Barry and Fred Sasakamoose remained at home this week. Barry is taking exams in his chartered accountancy studies. Ray will be a full-fledged accountant next Fall if he gets the required marks.

Cement Shortage

Canada's construction industry is trying to solve a cement puzzle, reports The Financial Post. While housebuilding and other construction work is being held up at the height of the fall rush by lack of supplies, they have been officially informed from Ottawa that generally, there is no shortage of cement in the country.

What set them wondering was a letter received by the National House Builders' Association from E. J. Bankoff, Commodity officer of the Department of Trade and Commerce which stated: "Generally speaking, there is no shortage of cement in Canada as a whole.
However, at the present time, a tight supply position does exist in some areas, particularly in the Prairies. Every effort is being made by the producers to overcome it. Barring unforeseen developments, the current shortage will be of short duration."

Mr. Bankoff's explanation of the shortage in the west was a strike which held up a scheme a double expansion at Canadian Cement Co.'s Fort Whyte, Manitoba plant and lost three months' production.
But while the Prairies are probably hardest hit, many Ontario builders report that they are receiving only small portions of their orders for cement and that the present supply situation is worse than it has been for several years. One builder reported that he ordered 60 yards of ready mix and received about 15.

Immortal Plays
Reach Peak

There has been a revival of the classic dramas within the past few years, which today is reaching a peak. Shakespeare, giant among playwrights, the master of action, intrigue, poetic beauty and pagentry, far from being forgotten by this mechanistic generation is rapidly becoming the most popular dramatist on the TV screen. C.B.C.'s Hamlet of last Spring, drew a record letter response, the American networks each season present regular productions of the Bard of Avon. The Stratford Group is continentally famous for its Shakespearean drama.
The reason is not hard to find.
Shakespeare wrote about real people, for people. The folks he wrote about four hundred years ago are the same folks as those of today, with the same desires, hopes, fears, and tragedies.
His plays were universal, and his poetry has never been surpassed.
Language as written by Shakespeare, and delivered by a sensitive actor becomes music, as tempestuous or as placid as a symphonic composition.

The Lancaster Theatre, the daring group of B.C. actors who, two years ago risked everything to bring Shakespeare to the High Schools of the three Western provinces, and won, are also embarking this year on a new tour with "Julius Caesar."
The miraculous thing about Shakespearian drama is that each play lends itself to individual interpretation, so that those who have seen Julius Caesar as a film, or on TV, will find a new, equally gripping
Caesar in the Lancaster version.

The High School Student's Union is bringing the Lancaster Company to Didsbury for two performances, at 2 p.m. and 8 p.m. to be given at the High School auditorium on Tuesday, Nov. 1. Tickets are available from any member of the Student's Union.

A good way to improve the monotony of any job is to think up ways of improving it.

also took in the Prairie trip.
At some stages of the game Saturday Currie had all his four rookies on the ice at the same time. Barry Ross was centring Dave Duke and Rock Crawford while Bud Syverson was back of the blue line with Gus Kyle.

The four kids are showing well.
They should soon start scoring goals.
And it wouldn't surprise Calgary followers if Ross turned out to be a rookie-of-the-year award contender.
The pivotman is smart and rugged.

Three home games so far and a total attendance of 11,719. Not bad for this time of the year.

The People OF Alberta

Alberta's people are her greatest asset. They are still the pioneer stock of select individuals who had vision and initiative enough to venture far afield and leave the old lands to their less enterprising countrymen. The result is that Alberta has been blessed with men and women who have had resourcefulness, endurance, courage and judgment. Ideas and culture have come from many nations and the common experience of pioneering in a new land has developed a friendliness and hospitality unique to the West. Today Albertans number just over a million.

The last Dominion government census traced their countries of origin for the three western provinces as follows: England, Ireland, Scotland and Wales 46.9 per cent; France 6.8 per cent; Germany 11.7 per cent; Ukraine 10.4 per cent; Holland 4.1; Poland 3.7; Norway 3.0; Sweden 2.8; Russia 1.8; and many others of less than 1 per cent.

Mrs. A. Patterson won both the contest and the 10-cent draw. Mrs. Alan Hushes will take the Nov. meeting in place of Mrs. R. L. Lons. Roll call will be homemade goods for the bazaar.

T.V. SALES
Canada's insatiable appetite for television, fed by sales of 344,600 sets in the last eight months, will not slacken. Rate of new station openings will keep demand high in 1955, when colored TV will be introduced on a mass scale. Radio purchases are not being hit by the boom in August radio set sales were up 70% from 1954's same month — 30% were installed in automobiles.

Home and School Play Makes Big Hit With Those In Attendance

The characters in the play "High Pressure Area" were Mr. and Mrs. Wickham, their teen-age daughter, Sally, and her chum, Ruth. The Wickhams have always talked things over with Sally when decisions have had to be made. They feel that she is old enough to travel alone and have pronounced her a trip to Vancouver to visit a friend. Sally is genuinely fond of her parents and has always been ready to do as they wished.

In Scene I, Ruth appears with the most thrilling invitation for herself and Sally, which she reveals when the two are alone. A very sophisticated girl, several years their senior, has asked Ruth if she and Sally would come on a party with her and three men, two of which are in town for a visit. They plan to drive out to a road house where the young people of Sally's age are not allowed, but suddenly Sally remembers her parents, will they approve? Ruth's parents have never trusted her, so she has no intention of sneaking out under the pretense of going elsewhere. She can't understand why Sally doesn't do the same, but Sally says "They've always been on the square with me. I think I'd rather tell them."

In Scene II, a few hours later, Mrs. Wickham tells her husband of Sally's invitation. She wishes to talk things over before John sees Sally. These parents have not forgotten their own youth. They realize how attracted an invitation from a glamorous older crowd can be to a teenager, and that nothing they can say will make the invitation less alluring. They also recognize the "sulf" between the generations. "The crowd is so much more important to teenagers. Though Sally hasn't mentioned Ruth, they guess that she has been the one to bring the invitation. What alternatives have they? They can reason with her, tell her they don't approve or simply say "No," without giving reasons. They are torn between the fear of what might happen to their beloved daughter and the knowledge that they must let her learn to stand on her own feet. Finally they decide to talk things over with Sally as they have always done so they try, but the seeds of disaster of adults sown in Sally's mind by Ruth seem to have borne fruit. Sally will not listen to any reasons her parents give. She is quite able to take care of herself, they are always interfering and never want her to have any fun, but she is not going to be bullied and insists on living her own life—so says Sally and finally flings out of the room in a rage. The parents are stunned and hurt. Should we really get tough, look for in her room or something," but they finally conclude that she is on her own from now on. She must make her own decisions.

In Scene III, a couple of days later, the two girls are having another confidential chat and we learn that Sally's parents have never mentioned the party again, but Sally is still planning to go by deceiving them and she is staying overnight with a school friend. Ruth is full of underhand schemes for outwitting her parents, who are so unsympathetic and distrustful of her, and Sally begins to think she has been pretty dumb to be so confident all her life. "But no more," she says, adding "They'll find they can't break me. It's a matter of principle."

Just then, Mrs. Wickham returns from downtown and drops the coveted ticket to Vancouver in Sally's lap as she passes through the living room. The girls are dumfounded and Sally begins to cry, but Ruth says, "What do you suppose they've got up their sleeve. Sally retorts "They haven't got anything up their sleeve, they're just adorable, lovely, wonderful people, that's all. The trust and confidence that her parents have built up during her whole life have triumphed over what she knows in her heart has been wrong all the time and Sally makes her first big decision as her parents hoped she would. Scornfully she says, "Do you think I'd go out with those horrid cheap people to that

MAINTAINING WHEAT PRICES

In a recent report of the Food and Agriculture Organization, of the United Nations, in which wheat marketing and pricing developments since World War II were discussed, the following statement was made:

"Owing to the existence of national marketing agencies, the fall in export prices (since 1952) was less severe than it might have been in free market conditions."

The experience of grain producers is that under the free market, prices may move rapidly and there is nothing to prevent them from falling to depression levels. This happened in 1938. Following the small 1937 crop the price of wheat started to climb and by January, 1938, it reached $1.54, basis 1 Northern at the terminal. However with improved prospects for 1938 the price began to slide and by September it had fallen to only 57 cents—a decline of 97 cents in only 8 months.

At that time there was no world wheat surplus. On July 31, 1938, the total world carryover of old crop wheat was only 630 million bushels while the crop that year totalled 6.7 billion bushels. By way of comparison, on July 31 this past summer Canada and the United States alone had more than twice that carryover and this year's world wheat crop is placed at 7.3 billion bushels. About 96 per cent of the world's wheat is now being produced and marketed under government programs or control. True, some decline in prices has taken place but as F.A.O. reports, it has been nothing like what would have happened under the free and unrestricted market.

When Ruth sees Sally really means it, she decides she doesn't want to go to the party alone and they end up by happily planning an outing with their own teen-age crowd.

Mrs. J. Shannon, Lorna Wiggins as Sally, Bonnie Clarke as Ruth and Mr. B. Brower did a splendid job in portraying the various characters in the play, and during the discussion that followed it was agreed that the chief lesson learned from the play was that confidence and understanding should exist between parents and adolescents.

HEADING TOWARD PARITY

The Canadian dollar is heading for par with U.S. money and probably lower. That's the prediction of foreign exchange experts who are watching a sudden tumble in the value of Canadian currency, reports The Financial Post.

These veterans of the in-and-out of money market in New York, Montreal and Toronto are even placing bets on the day the breakthrough occurs.

Cautious betters say by Christmas, many others believe our dollar will hit par by the end of this month.

M.V.B.C. NEWS

(From Our Own Correspondent)

A splendid number of young people have registered in the classes we offer in College. They are full of enthusiasm, and are attacking the subjects with earnestness and zeal. We appreciate such a fine group of earnest youth. Several are taking the fourth year of work which will lead to the Bachelor of Sacred Literature. Those doing are Jean Burkholder, Emelia Dietz, Clifford Quantz, Clifford Baughman. Three additional members are taking Greek with them: Earl Reimer, Harley Dyck and Marlene Sharmen. We wish them every success.

We are glad to have Miss Lois Falk, M.N. from Victoria, B. C. with us this year. Miss Falk is taking one year of selected work in preparation for further endeavor in the nursing field, and then to Nigeria, West Africa as a missionary. She is school nurse this winter.

Miss Jean Burkholder is Nurse's Aid at the hospital at night, and is taking nine hours of work here to finish her fourth year of Bible College. She has a strenuous course outlined for herself, but she feels it is worthwhile to do this in view of further work among the Indians some time in the future.

Mrs. Ray Shantz has accepted the position of teaching the Religious Education class at the College twice each week. We appreciate having her here, and taking part in this institution. She graduated some years ago with her Bible Diploma from this school.

Mrs. Marie Kasey of Bellingham, Wash., is busily engaged with her duties of Dean of Women and housekeeper. Her efficiency is greatly appreciated. She, too, is grateful to all who have helped to set the school ready for occupancy this fall.

Mrs. D. M. Taylor is teaching Composition again this year, and is also helping to get the groups of students organized into trios, quartets, etc.

We regret deeply that Mr. Widmark who was to have taken charge of our music department is unable to return for a couple of months due to continued ill health. Miss Marlene Sharmen, however, is taking added responsibility, and music classes required are under her capable teaching now.

This week Rev. Bob Simpson will begin his Evangelism and Missions classes. All church people who would desire to take this course may do so, for he will come once each week and teach Evangelism from 1:30 p.m. to 2:30, and Missions from 2:30 to 3:45 each Thursday afternoon. You may want to come, and if so enquire from the College as to cost, which is nominal. It is an opportunity that you will want to grasp. He begins this Thursday afternoon.

The campus will be a place of activity each night for the next two weeks, while Rev. Brunk of Virginia U.S.A. continues his evangelistic campaign sponsored by many community churches. Try to attend each evening. During the week the meetings begin at 8 p.m. On Sunday evenings they begin 7:30 p.m.

Bancroft W.I. Holds Meeting

Thirteen members and four visitors met at the home of Mrs. Edwin Ohlhausen for the October meeting which opened by singing "Just a Song at Twilight" and repeating the creed.

Roll call was answered by "One Step I Can Take Towards World's Peace."

The minutes of the Sept. meeting were read and approved.

Financial statement was read by Mrs. G. Hoskin.

The sum of $15 will be given to the Senior Citizen's Home in Didsbury and $5 was donated towards the UNESCO gift coupon fund, to help equip a village in Ceylon.

A Stanley Tea was set for Oct. 20 at Mrs. Ray Good.

Miss Patricia Hoskins gave an annual report of the girls club. They had 14 members last year. They did a number of interesting objectives, and also did handicraft work for their convention at Olds. Their supervisor, assistant supervisor, and three girls attended their convention.

A discussion on the girls club was held and decisions were made about club uniform pins, etc.

The meeting adjourned by singing "God Save Our Queen."

The tea prize was won by a visitor, Mrs. Gibson.

For a United Nation paper, Mrs. E. Ohlhausen had Miss Betty Rieder talk on her trip to New York. Miss Rieder showed slides of her trip and telling where they had been and also that they visited the United Nations Building.

Mrs. G. Hoskin gave the bit of fun and was won by Mrs. Gibson the leader of one group.

Mrs. Ohlhausen served a tasty lunch.

WEDDINGS

PANABAKER - PARKER

A honeymoon trip to Hawaii followed the recent wedding in Pleasant Heights United Church of Miss Helen Anne Panabaker to Mr. John Havelock Parker.

Rev. D. G. Kilpatrick of Marden, Sask., and Rev. J. B. Spencey officiated at the ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold P. Panabaker of Calgary and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce T. Parker of Didsbury.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She chose a floor-length gown of white lace and tulle featuring a lace bodice and a bouffant skirt appliqued with lace points over taffeta. Her fingertip veil of fine French illusion net sheltered from a Sweetheart cap of lace and tulle and she carried a novel bouquet of Hollywood pink stephanotis. Her only jewelry was a strand of pearls and matching earrings, a gift of the bridegroom.

The maid of honor, Miss Bette MacGillivray of Vancouver, was attired in a cocktail-length gown of Wedgewood blue French taffeta styled on princess lines. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink Sweetheart roses and carnations.

The junior bridesmaid, Miss Leone Schrag of Edmonton, was dressed in a white-length gown in the tulle shade with a scalloped neckline and full bouffant overskirt of blue tulle. She carried a colonial bouquet of roses, carnations and white daisies and wore a circlet of roses in her hair.

The best man was Mr. William B. Parker of Uranium City. Ushers were Mr. A. W. Rupp and Mr. Cameron Wordie. Miss Wilma Seckle sang "The Wedding Prayer" before the service and "I'll Walk Beside You" during the signing of the register.

A reception was held at the Glencoe Club where Dr. A. Ralph Schrag of Edmonton proposed the toast to the bride.

Following their honeymoon trip Mr. and Mrs. Parker will reside in Yellowknife, N.W.T.
